TRAINING HISTORY & OVERVIEW

The Eastern North Carolina Certified Crop Adviser Training was first held in December 2000. This annual training provides Certified Crop Advisers (CCAs) an opportunity to receive numerous continuing education units (CEUs). While learning valuable crop production information applicable to North Carolina. Agricultural Extension Agents from 15 counties within North Carolina's Southeast Extension District collaborate to plan and conduct this program. Average attendance for this event has been 72 CCAs for the past 16 years.

Southeast Extension District Agricultural Agents have worked to plan this interesting and informative program. Emphasis has been placed on past participant program topic suggestions and new information.
